Religious Education

But if someone were to rise from the dead...

Lent provides a stark reminder of Jesus' deep love for us. Considering this astonishing gift of salvation, it would seem impossible to understand how we, or anyone else for that matter, could walk away from God. During Lent, we are called to self-examination and reflection. That calling is certainly challenging. Have we walked away from Jesus? Are we living our lives centrally focused upon Him? Could we, or should we, be doing something more to point our world to our Savior? Those thought provoking questions are clearly addressed with frightening reality throughout today's Mass readings from scripture.

When we ponder the condition of the world, our country, our community, our families and our very own lives, do we see what the Prophet Jeremiah saw when he viewed his own society and world? Israel was definitely in serious decline, one could say they were suffering from an addiction to sin after the fall of Jerusalem and the destruction of Solomon's Temple in 587 BC. They had replaced an unwavering faith & commitment to God with a passion for worldly values and worldly pursuits. The entire book of Jeremiah chronicles a nation that looks very much like our world today - a world focused upon worldly values in lieu of Godly values. God spoke very clearly through Jeremiah as to what the problem was and what the ultimate outcome would be - the complete fall of their nation and their exile to Babylon. The story provides a clear message to us all of what happens when we turn away from God.

But what does it look like to truly follow Jesus? Today's Psalm Response provides crystal clarity to that question. "Blessed are they who hope in the Lord." We must avoid the council of the wicked and stop following the way of sinners. We must delight in the law of our Lord and keep our eyes fixed upon Jesus - day and night. We must never forget that there are eternal consequences for our choice of whether to follow God or to follow the ways of the world.

If all this were not clear enough, today's Gospel story of the rich man and Lazarus provides further truth as we ponder whether to totally commit to God or to the world. This story provides an incredibly stark reality for the consequences of that choice. When the Rich man - suffering in eternal fire - pleads with Abraham: "I beg you, father, send Lazarus to my father's house, for I have five brothers, so that he may warn them, lest they too come to this place of torment," Abraham replies "They have Moses and the prophets. Let them listen to them!" But the rich man insists: "Oh no, father Abraham, but if someone from the dead goes to them, then they will repent." The reply of Abraham to the rich man's plea has so much to say about us and our world today - those who often turn a deaf ear to the Gospel: "If they will not listen to Moses and the prophets, they will not listen to anyone - even if someone were to rise from the dead..."

We can choose the world and the terrifying future of the rich man's destiny of an eternity filled with anguish with no hope for escape, or we can choose God and look forward to Lazarus' destiny of eternal comfort in God's presence. As this story explains, these consequences hold true regardless of what we are currently facing in our lives. Our choice, not our circumstances, determines the outcome.

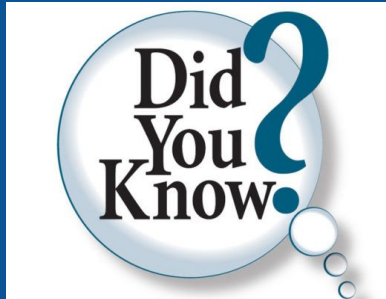

So where does all this lead us in this time of self-examination and reflection? Is it possible that we too have walked away from His astonishing gift of salvation & love? Are we living our lives with a heart fully committed to Jesus? Or have we allowed the world to seep into our heart and replace true allegiance to our Father with allegiance to the lies of sin and death? Let's pray:

Dear Heavenly Father, examine my heart and help me to keep out all that hinders my commitment to You. Give me the courage of Jeremiah to confidently follow your will for my life. Help me cope with all the worldly influences that have crowded out my true commitment to You. In the name of my Lord and Savior, Jesus the Christ. Amen.

Our Lady of Grace Athletic Association

Did you know that the funds raised through OLGAA fundraisers throughout the year go directly to subsidize a portion of our sports program costs? This allows us to offer our many sports programs to you at a discounted price, compared to other athletic organizations. It is also the aim of the OLG Athletics to never deny a child the opportunity to participate in sports based on financial hardships.

Parents may make a request to the Executive Committee Vice President who will determine, along with the OLGAA Board, if an additional sports subsidy can be granted.
